

In the Specification:

Starting on the last line of page 5, replace the two paragraph with the following:

Figure 2 illustrates a preferred logic for the program in the terminal 14. The method illustrated in Figure 2 begins with a start routine 30 which loads up a registry in step 32. The registry preferably includes the preferences of the prospective recipient of the goods, but the registry may also be initiated by a single purchase from a registrant. Thus, the preferences may be specified by the prospective recipient or by registrants to the system in step 34. Once the registry is established, the prospective recipients may enroll their preferences into the system as previously described. The preferences are also preferably editable.

Q' When the merchant, having control over the terminal 12, receives orders from registrants in step 36, a match is attempted with the preference already established by the prospective recipient. The registrant is also provided with the option of ordering goods which are not within the preferences expressed by the recipient. The system then schedules the filling of the order or orders in step 38, and if more than one order is placed, the default setting for the system schedules delivery or filling of the order at different times, i.e. over a time period.